CAPT. VELVET'S REVOLT

Further Exploits of the Soldier and the Three New Yorkers Who Figured in "Capt. Velvet's Welcome"

By Edgar Franklin

WILL BEGIN MONDAY

and the biplane shot into the air and gave pursuit. In a short time the biplane had passed the dirigible and headed it off in the air. Capt. Hauswirth made a short dash and sailed back over the plain on which the troops and spectators were massed.

Again the biplane gave chase. The dirigible was headed off and started in another direction. Above, below and around the dirigible circled the airplanes. The men on the dirigible were setting in pantomime the parts they would play in actual warfare—the aiming of guns and the attempts to disable the burning foe and its operators.

AEROPLANE WAS TRYING TO PASS UNDER DIRIGIBLE.

No one will ever know exactly how the terrible culmination of the play in the air was brought about. Aviators think that Lieut. Flats attempted to take a position close above the dirigible with the object of showing how an aeroplane could so manoeuvre as to get to a point where it would be able to utter a deadly gas balloon and still be safe from attack. His plan, apparently, was to come down on the dirigible from above, unseen from the observation of those in the car of the balloon by the bulk of the gas bag.

It would seem that Lieut. Flats and Capt. Hauswirth decided to ascend at the same moment. The aeroplane, running at terrific speed at right angles to the course of the dirigible, was suddenly confronted with that craft shooting upward. Lieut. Flats moved his planes with the apparent intention of trying to pass under the dirigible, but he struck the side of the gas bag and ripped it open.

Where the balloon and the aeroplane had been a moment before—there were a mass of smoke and the laws of nature—there appeared a great mass of brownish smoke. It was like the explosion of a great aerial bomb such as is used in exhibitions of daylight fireworks.

When after the mass of smoke appeared the spectators heard a sound like the boom of a cannon. By that time the wreckage of the two aircraft was speeding earthward. A groan arose from the witnesses. The hissing, smoking lumps of steel and timber disappeared in a clump of trees on the mountainside.

Some time elapsed before soldiers reached the spot where the wreck had landed. All the nine bodies were there. None of the doomed men had tried to jump. Flats was still strapped to the seat of the aeroplane. All of the army officers killed were well known and popular. From the nature of their services as aviators they were regarded as heroes by the people. Their untimely end has caused intense mourning in Vienna.

WOMAN'S FOOT BROKEN BY FALL AT A FIRE

Mrs. Rosso Descending Winding Stair Slips and Tumbles to Yard.

Mrs. Rosa Rosso was injured by a fall while escaping from a fire at No. 100 Cuyler street, Brooklyn, at 4 A. M. to-day. In the three-story building her husband, Salvatore, has a shoe shop and lives with his family in the rear. Partino Ciaocio, a barber, has a shop adjoining and lives in the rear.

Policeman Samuel Robinson saw smoke coming from the cellar and rushed to the door. Rosso and his wife found the hallway filled with smoke and started down a winding stairway in the rear. Mrs. Rosso became entangled and fell.

The policeman found her in the rear a few minutes later suffering from a fractured foot and many cuts. She was attended by Ambulance Surgeon Ralph of the Williamsburg Hospital. All the others got out of the house without accident. The fire, confined to the cellar and first floor, did $1,000 damage.

CUPID'S HAPPY HUNTING SEASON

Summer in the Wilderness of Beach Beauties

ONE OF THREE THIEVES FAINTS WHEN CAUGHT.

Detectives With Guns Pop Up From Behind Counter While Robbers Are Packing Loot.

Hyman Kaufman of No. 35 Merrell street, Brooklyn; Morris Schuldach of No. 169 Rivington street, Manhattan; and Samuel Schulman of No. 202 Cook street, Brooklyn, broke through a door at the rear of Morris Feuer's silk factory, at No. 106 Moore street, Williamsburg, at 3 o'clock this morning and packed together quite a pile of valuable goods.

Just then Detectives Carroll and Ferris, who had spent six weeks in making acquaintance with friends of the intruders, rose from behind a counter and leveled revolvers at them. Schulman fainted. Kaufman said: "Ain't it awful?" Schuldach remarked: "Or, die political!" The three were dragged downstairs, all of them more or less stupefied by shock and bundled into a patrol wagon, which had been called by Detectives Flanchett and Van Gillewe, who were on watch outside.

Four men who had accompanied the three who entered had been allowed to escape by the police lookouts on the outside rather than alarm those who were caught. The police have been waiting for a long time for the attempt to rob Feuer's place and are now satisfied that their elaborate preparations to stop a succession of factory robberies has been worth while.

VACATIONS FOR WHITE WINGS

Aldermen Asked for $35,000 to Give Rest to Workers.

That smile you have seen for the last few days on the faces of sweepers and drivers of the Street Cleaning Department was explained this morning by Commissioner John T. Fetherston. Every man of the 7,000 in the department, from the lowest stable boy to the highest ranking official, is booked for a two weeks' vacation with full pay unless Commissioner Fetherston's plans receive an unexpected setback.

The salary of $25,000 asked by the Commissioner to make this possible is now in the hands of the Committee of the Board of Aldermen, and will come up in a special meeting of the committee on Monday, called so that it will be possible to jump the appropriation. In this way a week of the short summer season will be saved to the men. At present the men are allowed only six days off during the summer in lieu of a vacation.

SPEED MANIACS TO BE DEPRIVED OF THEIR LICENSES

Magistrates Determined to Safeguard the Public Against Vicious Drivers.

In a further effort to check auto speeding in New York, Chief City Magistrate William McAdoo is considering submitting to the Secretary of State a report containing the names and offenses of those who persist in ignoring the city's speed regulations, with a request that the licenses of the offenders be revoked or suspended.

"The revocation and suspension of licenses I consider one of the most efficient ways of making for the public safety," said Magistrate McAdoo to-day. "It might be of interest in this connection to point out that in London hundreds of licenses are revoked every year either for all time or suspended for a definite period. The license is not renewed unless the holder can satisfy the Police Commissioner or those under him that the misconduct is not likely to occur again."

Last Wednesday, according to figures given out by Magistrate McAdoo to-day, forty-eight auto speeders faced Magistrates in Manhattan and the Bronx on charges of exceeding the speed limit. Of this number, thirty-seven were fined, sentence was suspended in nine cases, one case was held pending and one defendant discharged.

Before Magistrate Brown, in the Eighth District Court, eleven speeders were arraigned. Arthur Seligman was fined $50, and on the following day of $25 were imposed: Ralph Snyder, William B. Bailey, Edward J. Brady, William B. McAvoy, Arthur Jones, Israel Goldstein. Sentence was suspended in the cases of the following: Beatrice Allen, Frank English, Frederick Victor and Edward Tierney. In the Fourth District Court, presided over by Magistrate Campbell, nine were arraigned. All received $25 fines. The fined were: Wilbur T. Sickles, Charles Roeder, Thomas McKenna, George Littlejohn, Albert Horvath, Nicholas Fallon, James Eagan, Julius H. Berman and Morris Posner.

Eight speeding cases were heard by Magistrate Nolan in the Seventh District Court. The following were fined $25: William H. Spencer, Joseph V. Gibney, Elizabeth Ryan, Harvey Frost, William P. Disbrand, John Schand. A fine of $50 was imposed in the case of Frederick Lerman. Magistrate Murphy, in the Second District Court, passed judgment in ten cases. Upon the following, fines of $25 were imposed: August Winkler, John Savara, Samuel Mann, Anton Jost, Charles Goetlin, Thomas A. Fitzsimmons, Martin Feynash, William Black. Sentence was suspended in the following cases: George H. Hawley, Matthew B. Courtadi.

Fines of $25 were imposed by Magistrate Herbert in the First District Court, upon James Blum and Morris Schneider. Magistrate Marsh in the Third District Court, fined Ruben Harris $25 and Edward L. Dufourcy and Charles Beyer received suspended sentences when arraigned before Magistrate Krotel in the Fifth District Court. Sentence was suspended in the following cases: George H. Hawley, Matthew B. Courtadi.

THIRD BALL LEAGUE TO CHECK RAID OF THE FEDERALS

Clubs of the International and the American Association to Combat Invaders.

Organized baseball, stung by the latest activities of the Federal League in causing stars to jump their contracts, will form a third major league to provide continuous opposition to the outlaws. The scheme is to take four of the strongest cities in the International League and the American Association and establish a new organization. The four remaining clubs in both the International League and American Association will be reformed into a new minor league circuit.

This new arrangement to fight the Feds was the outcome of a special meeting of the National Commission at the Waldorf this afternoon. Chairman Garry Herrmann said that the Commission had this move under advisement, but Ban Johnson, President of the American League, declared that the Commission thoroughly knew what it was about and that the deal was as good as consummated, although the official announcement of the formation of a third major league of organized baseball clubs would not be made for about ten days.

The National Commission will hold another meeting to-morrow to work out final details for the establishment of a third big league. None of the Commission members would say what cities would be selected for the new circuit, but it is understood that the Eastern part of the league will be made up of clubs in Baltimore, Newark, Buffalo and Toronto. The Western section will surely embrace clubs in Kansas City and Indianapolis, where the Federals have clubs.

It is planned to make the new circuit a big league affair in all that the name implies. The draft will be removed and the eight clubs will not be in danger of having their players taken by the National and American Leagues by the drafting route.

Jack Dunn, whose Baltimore club in the International League has suffered heavy financial losses by the advent of the Federal League, served notice on the Commission that if it didn't take some sort of action he would sell his best players and move his club to Richmond, Va. A special meeting of the National Commission was called in this city to discuss the Federal League and the best way to curb its activities. The idea of creating a third major league as the best means of protection originated with Ban Johnson.

WILSON AND KAISER HAVE A 4,062 MILE TALK BY WIRELESS

Greetings Exchanged Between Stations at Tuckerton, N. J., and Eilvez, Germany.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—An exchange of wireless messages between President Wilson and Emperor William was made public to-day at the White House. The message sparked through 4,062 miles of air between Tuckerton, N. J., and Eilvez, Germany, near Hanover. President Wilson and Emperor William exchanged messages last January, when the Emperor sent a message to the Tuckerton station, but as it was not then equipped to transmit messages but only to receive them President Wilson's reply went by cable.

The messages of yesterday signifying a new agency of transatlantic wire communication were as follows: "Washington, D. C. June 19, 1914. "His Majesty William II. "German Emperor. "Via wireless station, Tuckerton, N. J. "On this occasion of the opening of the Tuckerton radio station I send to Your Majesty my best greetings and offer my congratulations on this additional link to bind the United States and Germany in closer intercourse and good relationship. (Signed) "WOODROW WILSON. "German Transatlantic Station, "Eilvez, June 19, 1914. "President Woodrow Wilson, "Washington, D. C. "During my visit to Eilvez station I received your kind message. I thank you for the greetings. I return your congratulations on the opening of wireless communication between Germany and America. I, too, consider it as an additional link which will bind our two countries in mutual friendship and closer intercourse. (Signed) "WILLIAM, I. R."

WIDOW OF JACOB RIIS GETS BULK OF ESTATE.

Named Roosevelt in Will as One of Committee to Continue His Settlement Work.

The will of Jacob A. Riis, social worker, author and friend of Col. Roosevelt, who died recently at his home in Barre, Mass., was made public to-day by his son, Edward Riis of this city.

The will says that Mr. Riis had accumulated no money to give to the Settlement at No. 48 Henry street, New York City, which he founded and which bears his name. He asks an advisory board, which he names in the will, to guide the affairs of the Settlement. On the board he appoints Theodore Roosevelt, Lyman Abbot, Robert Bacon and a number of other prominent persons.

The bulk of the estate, the value of which is not given, goes to his widow, Mary Riis. Four children by a former wife have heretofore been provided for, the will says, by a deed of trust.

CAUGHT AT OLD GAME.

Duped Italian Giving Up When Policeman Comes Along.

John Galvin, who, the police say, has been to the "Hudson Dusters," and has been arrested seven times for disorderly conduct, although he is only twenty-one years old, looked disgusted when he was arraigned in the Jefferson Market Court to-day, accused of attempted swindling. According to Antonio Marfario of Madison, N. J., who got back from Italy yesterday, Galvin met him in front of No. 752 Washington street and tried the old pocketbook trick on him, exhibiting a counterfeit $100 which he took from it and offering to divide with Marfario if he would change the bill. Marfario had his money out to make this quick turn when Policeman Leonard came along. Galvin sprang, but the policeman was a sprinter too.

Guest was Mrs. Edward F. O'Brien, who arrived from Havana yesterday to visit her sister, Mrs. Francis Lynch of Bensonhurst. Mrs. O'Brien was to have been one of the bridesmaids. She had her costume completed in Havana before sailing. The costume was in one of her trunks. But, alas, the trunks were held up in the Custom House, pending adjudication of a langle over duties. The only way Mrs. O'Brien can utilize the new gown now is to persuade some friend to get married during her stay in New York and let her act as bridesmaid.

HERO NO. 6 OF YALE CREW SAILS AWAY FOR LABRADOR

"Couldn't Think About Anything," Says He, "All We Had to Do Was Pull the Oars."

"We couldn't think about anything. All we had to do was to pull on the oars."

That was what Herbert Rogers, No. 6 in the winning Yale crew said when he came down from New London to-day and took passage on the Red Star line's steamship Stephano for Halifax.

Rogers, a son of Archibald Rogers of No. 35 West Fifty-third street, sails with two college chums, George Jones and Richard Osborne, for the Grenfell Mission at Indian Harbor, Labrador. He and his friends will handle the oars of the yawl in which Dr. Grenfell makes his trips among the fishermen of the far North.

Other passengers were Frank Carnegie, a nephew of Andrew Carnegie, and Harry Whitney, sportsman and big game hunter, of New Haven. They will cruise in Whitney's yacht along the Labrador coast.

Gall Borden, who is being sued for divorce, was another passenger. When asked about the suit he replied: "Hal! Hal! That is all I can say."

SICK RATE LOW IN ARMY AT VERA CRUZ.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Of the American troops at Vera Cruz only sixty-eight were sick Thursday, according to a report to the War Department from Brig.-Gen. Funston.

Sixty-one were incapacitated by disease and seven by injury. Thirteen have diarrhoea, four dysentery, one malaria—all other diseases, forty-three.

The sick rate for the week ended June 17 was 2.15 per cent. for the army and 2.88 per cent. for the marines. The rate among the troops at Vera Cruz for the last week is less than the sick rate for the army at large during the last year.

ceived the following contradictory information was made public through the Mexican delegates at Niagara Falls:

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 20.—The Mexican delegation here received a telegram to-day from the Consul of their Government at El Paso, Tex., that Gen. Villa had issued a statement addressed to the American people saying that he had proclaimed Gen. Angeles as Provisional President of Mexico.

The Consul added that according to intercepted private messages at Juarez reports of an amicable adjustment of the differences between Carranza and Villa were not true. He also said that word had reached him that Carranza was quietly sending a force of 2,000 men into the State of Sonora at Vera Cruz for the purpose of deposing Gov. Maytorena, with whom Carranza was reported to have had differences.

FIRST USE OF RESINOL STOPS TERRIBLE ITCH

When Other Treatments Gave No Relief. Resinol Cured Eight Years, but Resinol Cured in a Week.

Jan. 27, 1914: "I suffered over eight years with eczema. It started in one little place and kept spreading until it covered my hands. My hands looked like they had been burned by fire and peeled off in large pieces until they were only raw flesh. I was told it was eczema. It itched and burned me so that I could not sleep at night. I tried all sorts of eczema salves and no prescription after another but nothing gave me any relief until I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. After the first application my hands never itched or burned again, and were well in one week. I want every sufferer from eczema to know that they can find a cure in Resinol." JESSE R. GRANT'S WIFE ASKS COURT TO FIX SUPPORT

Separated From General's Son, Who, She Says, Has Given Her Only $1,000 Since 1910.

Mrs. Elizabeth Grant brought suit in the Supreme Court to-day to compel the United States Trust Company, as trustee under the will of Julia Dent Grant, to pay to her a sum sufficient to support her in the manner befitting the income and position of her husband, Jesse R. Grant, son of Gen. U. S. Grant. The filing of the suit was the first intimation that the Grants are so inseparably parted as to justify the wife to appeal to the courts for maintenance. Rumors of differences in the family of the Grants reached social circles some time ago.

The suit discloses that from 1880 until 1902, when Julia Dent Grant died, the younger Grants lived with the wife of the General. The mother gave Jesse R. Grant money, it is claimed, out of which he gave his wife about $250 a month. Mrs. Grant alleges in her complaint that her husband abandoned her altogether in 1909 and not since lived with her nor permitted her to live with him. She states that since 1910, although her husband has received an income of approximately $5,000 a year out of the estate left him by his mother, besides his share from the income provided by the fund of $250,000 established by patriotic citizens for the benefit of the family of Gen. U. S. Grant, he has given her only $1,000.

Mrs. Grant joins as defendants with the United States Trust Company, Nellie Grant Cronan and Chapman Grant, who are believed by the wife to derive an income from the funds out of which her husband obtains his money. Mrs. Grant says her total income at present is about $100 a month from the rental of a house in San Diego, Cal., but which is largely eaten up by taxes, assessments and repairs. She adds that Jesse R. Grant receives about $2,000 a year out of the patriotic gift which was set aside for the benefit of the Grant family.

Alleged Absconder Held. Charged with being a fugitive from justice, John W. Tolliver, twenty-seven years of age, of New Orleans, is held in the Tombs awaiting the action of the authorities of the Louisiana State. He was formerly treasurer of the New Orleans Aerie of the Order of Eagles, and is accused of having absconded with funds belonging to the organization.
